Ike Backers Accuse Democrats Of Trying To 'Rig Farm Prices' 'Cheap Political Lie,' Brannon Says

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—GOP supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower tonight accused the Democrats of trying to "rig farm prices for political advantage" in a move to win Tuesday's presidential election. Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannon retorted: "That is a cheap political unmitigated lie."

Truman Takes Top-Secret Tag Off JCS Report

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 2 (AP)—President Truman tonight made public a long-time top secret document embodying agreement by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in 1947 to the withdrawal of U. S. occupation forces from Korea.

Truman announced he had officially declassified the document in the light of what he called the "many untrue accusations" that have been made in the bitter political campaign which comes to a close tomorrow.

Truman has repeatedly charged that Dwight D. Eisenhower, the GOP presidential nominee, shared responsibility for the decision to withdraw the troops while Army chief of staff and a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Truman, in a statement, charged that Eisenhower in his campaign has sought to "create the false impression that our civilian officials were solely responsible for our decisions with respect to Korea and that they were guilty of blundering, if not something worse."

The memorandum, dated Sept. 26, 1947, to the secretary of state, from former Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal, asserted the Joint Chiefs of Staff considered, from the standpoint of military security, that the U. S. had "little interest" in maintaining its troops and bases in Korea; and added: "... the withdrawal of these forces from Korea would not impair the military position of the Far East command unless in consequence, the Soviets establish military strength in South Korea capable of mounting an assault in Japan."

Eisenhower, Truman's constant target during 18,000 miles of campaigning, has been accused by the President of condemning the administration for decisions in which he (Eisenhower) participated, and of trying to create the impression that he could help speed the return of U. S. troops in Korea now by a personal visit there if elected. Eisenhower has assailed the administration for "blunders" to which he attributed the crisis in Korea.

Mexico Offers Truce Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Mexico plunged today into the attempts by small countries in the U. N. to get U. N.-Communist agreement on the Korean war prisoners issue, with a formal proposal to let the prisoners go to other countries.

The proposal, drafted by President Miguel Aleman of Mexico on lines suggested by him last September, was formally deposited at the U. N. late last night by the Mexican permanent delegate, Luis Padilla Nervo.

It was one of several projects in the making in an attempt to bring the Western Powers with troops in Korea and the Communist faction led by Russia to a solution of the release of the prisoners, chief sticking point in the way of a Korean armistice.

A Mexican delegation spokesman said Padilla Nervo, who was president of the Assembly at its Paris session last winter, had not decided when he will take the floor in the U. N. Political Committee to argue for the proposal.

The Mexican proposal calls for prisoners to designate what U. N. member country they want to go to; if they did not want to go home, these countries would be required to accept them as possible future citizens and permit them to work for a living; their right to return to their own homes after the war was over would be preserved. No specific country was named in the Mexican proposal.

1,600 Convicts Out Of Control In Ohio Prison Prisoner Is Shot Trying To Escape

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2 (AP)—Warren Ralph W. Alvis tonight said that 1,600 convicts in four cellblocks are "out of control" and that guards shot and wounded one long-term convict trying to escape.

"We have never had complete control of these men since the riot," said Alvis at a news conference in his office outside the prison walls.

The warden identified the wounded convict as 28-year-old Everett Hodge of Cincinnati, serving 10-25 years for armed robbery.

Hodge, said Alvis, was shot as he tried to pry his way to a screen with an iron bar torn from a cell locking device.

The convict's condition was not serious. Alvis described the wound as a "flesh wound."

Situation "Very Tense"

"Gentlemen," said Alvis in opening the news conference, "the situation is very tense at Ohio Penitentiary. The men of G. H. I and K cellblocks are still the same as they were—out of control inside the cellblocks."

Alvis said the men numbered 1,600.

The warden said armed guards repeatedly warned Hodge to return to his cell but that he repeatedly refused, stubbornly continuing to pry and hack at the screen.

Finally, said Alvis, a guard shot the convict in the hip.

The convict was taken to the prison hospital.

Alvis explained that the 1,600 rioters can't get outside their cellblocks. But, he said they earlier knocked the locks from individual cells and so could roam at will up and down the corridors.

Searchlights Play On Scene

With Alvis for the news conference, the first today, were top state prison and National Guard officials.

A battery of Navy searchlights—huge reflectors with six 1,000-watt bulbs—played steadily on the section of the cells where the defiance continued.

This brilliant white beam illuminated the building while 12 armed guards went into the cells to get the wounded Hodge. There was no further violence.

Alvis said state highway patrolmen and prison guards still are backed with 400 Ohio National Guardsmen. The guardsmen have not been sent into the cellblocks yet.

Royal Air Force To Use Sabres

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Air Ministry disclosed today the Royal Air Force will soon receive between 300 and 400 U. S. F-86 Sabre jets as part of a program to bring its fighter strength up to date.

It will be the first time the RAF has used the speedy American craft, the chief United Nations fighter plane in Korea.

Main delivery of the Sabres, made under arrangements between the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom, will begin next month. All the planes will be in the hands of the RAF by some time next year.

At the moment the standard British fighter jets are the obsolete Vampire and Meteor. These are being replaced by newer and speedier British models.

The ministry said engines, electronic equipment and instruments for the Sabres are being furnished by the United States through mutual defense assistance funds. The airframes are being supplied and built in Canada, where the planes will be assembled under mutual aid arrangements.

Wyatt Says 400 Electoral Votes In Bag For Adlai

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Stevenson high command predicted tonight that Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson will be elected president Tuesday "by not less than 400 electoral votes" and possibly more.

This prediction came from Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's personal campaign manager, who said that reports he has received from all parts of the nation indicate the Democrats will carry "not less than 32 states."

Wyatt told a news conference that the critical states of New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, and California—according to the reports he has received—will be in the Democratic column.

Asked what was the basis for this prediction, Wyatt replied that it came from the combined opinions of Democratic political leaders in those states who, a few weeks ago, thought there was little chance of a Democratic victory.

He asserted that a shift in sentiment toward Stevenson began snowballing about three weeks ago and has now gathered such tremendous momentum that the Stevenson camp is confident of victory.

Says Landslide Possible

"I don't mean we are overconfident," he said, "but I do say we expect a comfortable popular vote majority that may reach landslide proportions."

Then Wyatt said: "As to the outcome, I'll not be precise as to states. But after a canvass all over the country, I've reached the conclusion that our electoral vote will be not less than 400 votes, and for states, not less than 32 states."

A total of 266 electoral votes out of a 531 total is needed for election. Four years ago President Truman was elected with a total of 303 electoral votes.

Smoke Overcomes 60 Fighting Boston Fire

BOSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Thirty-five firefighters and 25 policemen were overcome by smoke today battling what one veteran officer called the city's worst waterfront fire in 32 years.

Virtually all the city's available firefighting equipment was called out to extinguish the general alarm fire that swept a 600-foot wooden shed on Union Wharf and threatened an huge store of fuel oil in an adjoining building. Navy, Coast Guard and harbor police fought the blaze from the harbor.

The 60 men were overcome by acrid fumes from burning rubber stored in the building. Ten required hospital treatment.

Van Fleet Says Allies Control Korean Battle

Red Artillery Blasts ROKs Off Key Ridge

SEOUL, Korea, Monday, Nov. 3 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet today said United Nations forces have "complete control of the situation" in the grim, costly three-week fight for Sniper Ridge and Triangle Hill on the Korean Central Front.

The U. S. Eighth Army command said his troops are "occupying all the territory we want to occupy" and will continue to "chew-up all the Chinese Reds" thrown into the battle.

Van Fleet's statement was handed to war correspondents a few hours after fresh waves of South Korean troops, supported by possibly the greatest artillery barrage since World War II, stormed Triangle Hill but were blasted back down its shell-torn slopes by a torrent of answering Chinese artillery fire.

The Eighth Army public information officer, Lt. Col. Roswell Rosenberg, handed the statement to correspondents at the regular morning briefing.

Rosenberg said he distributed copies of the statement: "A calmly confident Eighth Army commander instructed me to hand this out."

It read: "In the Chorwon, Kumhwa, Kumsong area we are occupying all of the territory we want to occupy. We are in complete control of the situation and we can and will continue to chew up all the Chinese they want to throw into the battle."

"In all of this action the ROK (Republic of Korea) army has done its usual magnificent job."

The U. S. Seventh Division and the South Korean Second Division carried the Kumhwa ridges fighting in its early days. Now the front is manned entirely by South Korean troops, but unit identifications are prohibited by censorship.

The Eighth Army said today its troops killed or wounded 36,285 men in the Central Front hill fighting in October — the equivalent of about three Red divisions.

The fighting covers the battles for White Horse Hill near Chorwon and the present clashes on Triangle and Sniper.

The Red casualty total was for action all along the 155-mile Korea war front. By far the greatest part of that was in the Chorwon and Kumhwa sectors.

"Tidal Wave" Drowns Child

SEATTLE, Nov. 2 (AP)—A huge wave engulfed a family standing on logs at an Oregon beach just before noon today, washing a 3-year-old boy to sea, Coast Guard headquarters here reported.

The Coast Guard described it as a "tidal wave," and said it swept far beyond any previous high water mark in recent years. Its cause was not known.

The young drowning victim was Larry Eugene Hardin, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Hardin, live at Warrenton, Ore.

The Coast Guard said the Hardins, their two sons, and an uncle of the boys, about 20, were standing on logs above the high water mark about five miles south of the Columbia River mouth.

The parents, uncle and older boy were able to fight their way back to safety. The young child was carried out into the savagely breaking surf.

Yank Freed By Soviets Told He Might Never Be Released

BERLIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—An American lieutenant released after six days of Soviet captivity said today the Russians had threatened him with permanent imprisonment.

"They interrogated me for about four hours altogether and at one time said that I might not ever be released," First Lt. William L. Stonebraker of West Decatur, Pa., told a news conference.

Stonebraker left Berlin by car last Sunday, took the wrong turn off the Allied Autobahn in the Soviet zone and was picked up by Russian Soldier and several East German Communist policemen. After several American requests, the Soviet authorities acknowledged that Stonebraker was in custody of their Karlshorst headquarters and he

Generally Fair Weather Forecast For Election Day

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (INS)—The Weather Bureau tonight predicted generally fair weather over the country for Tuesday with threatening storms in only a few scattered areas.

The forecast listed as possible stormy areas extreme Southern Florida, the mountains of Northern New Mexico and Southern Colorado and along the coasts of the Northwest — Washington and Northern Oregon.

A few snow flurries are predicted for the Western Montana mountains.

Seasonable temperatures are expected to prevail throughout the South and West, and it will be cooler in the northeast.

Senate's "Class Of 1946" Faces Test Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Senate's heavily Republican "Class of 1946" comes up for its test at the polls Tuesday. The voters' marks will largely determine which party controls the Senate in the 83rd Congress.

Six years ago there were 35 Senate contests and the GOP captured 23 of them to win control for the first time since 1932. The Democrats regained control in 1948.

The 1946 election campaign was marked by Republican cries against meat shortages and economic controls.

This year there are again 35 Senate contests. The Republicans must do exactly as well as in 1946—win 23 seats—if they are to be sure of taking the Senate. To the winners goes control of the whole Senate machinery, including committee chairmanships.

Republican Won In Maine

Of the 34 seats at stake Tuesday, 24 are held by Republicans. Maine has already elected a senator, a Republican. Thus 22 more GOP Senate victories would mean a net gain of two and would make the Senate lineup 49 to 47 Republican next year. At present it is 49 to 47 Democratic.

Republican strategists guiding the Senate campaign insist they will do as well or better than in 1946. They claim they are going to hold their present seats, with one or two possible exceptions, and will unseat at least five Democrats.

The Democratic leaders are just as confident. They regard many of the 1946 victors as political accidents and insist that several of them will fall by the wayside this time.

Democratic Argument

Sen. Earle C. Clements of Kentucky, head of the Democratic Senate Campaign Committee, argues that the arithmetic is all in favor of the Democrats.

He points out that the party will have 35 holdovers in the next Congress. Of the 14 Democrats running for re-election, five are in Southern states and are almost sure to win. Four others are from border states or other areas long Democratic.

Clements thus contends that his party starts with 44 seats. He says there are 14 states which are real battlegrounds and which will decide Senate control, and that the Democrats must take only five of these for victory.

Gen. Wedemeyer Stumps For Ike

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, stumping for the Republican ticket, said today that "President Truman has attacked the integrity of Gen. Eisenhower whom I know to be a man of the highest integrity and who obviously cannot go about in a self-serving manner stating that he is an honest man."

The retired commander of World War II forces in China made the statement in speeches prepared for radio and television delivery.

Gen. Wedemeyer dwelt at some length on the Korean situation. Quoting from the Wedemeyer report of 1947 he said: "Withdrawal of American forces from Korea would in turn result in the occupation of South Korea either by Soviet troops or as seems more likely by the Korean puppet government and armed forces they have created will be strong enough and sufficiently well indoctrinated to be relied upon to carry out Soviet objectives without the actual presence of Soviet troops."

Record Vote Of 55 Million Is Anticipated

Ike To Wind Up Drive In Boston

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL Associated Press Staff Writer

America's voting millions, probably more of them than ever before in history, choose tomorrow between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson for president.

Only flashes of wind-up oratory are left—last minute efforts to pull out the vote or sway the undecided. And then it is up to the people themselves, an estimated 55 million of them, to decide whether it is to be Stevenson and another four years of Democratic rule or Eisenhower and a change to the GOP.

From both sides in the titanic political struggle came just what anyone would expect—predictions of victory for their man. But now the decision is pretty much up to millions of individuals. For most of the fervor and the furor of the presidential campaign subsided yesterday in the calm of a quiet autumn Sabbath.

Nominees Attend Church

Gen. Eisenhower attended services in St. Paul's Chapel at Columbia University in New York City. Stevenson went to the Unitarian church in his old home town at Bloomington, Ill., a church his grandfather, Jesse Fell, helped found in 1859.

For the campaign finale, Stevenson goes to Chicago tonight, while Eisenhower winds up in Boston. Each will appear on nationwide television-radio programs with his vice presidential running mate — Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama for the Democrats, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California for the Republicans.

All around the political circuit Sunday was pretty much a day of rest. And for the most part, there will be little campaigning today. But Eisenhower is giving the last day before election to a double-edged drive in Massachusetts.

What the Republican nominee is after are 16 electoral votes, in a battleground state that has gone Democratic since 1928, plus reelection of GOP Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, who has been one of his warmest supporters.

Truman At Independence, Mo.

President Truman was home from the political wars, too, resting up at Independence, Mo., from thousands of miles of whistle-stop campaigning for the Stevenson cause.

All told, Truman, Stevenson and Sparkman put in something like 85,000 miles on the road and made more than 800 campaign speeches. Eisenhower, Nixon and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio covered about 103,000 miles and got off nearly 650 speeches.

It was a campaign that reached not only into meeting halls and arenas, but also into living rooms and family circles. Television brought the men and their words closer to the people than ever before.

Registration figures in state after state climbed to new peaks. More than 75 million persons made themselves eligible to vote. And they were expected to do so tomorrow in record numbers, far surpassing the previous high mark of 49,820,000 in 1940—the year of the Roosevelt-Willkie campaign.

He added that in 1947 he also had said: "The Soviets will withdraw their occupation forces just as soon as they can be sure that the North Korean puppet government and armed forces they have created will be strong enough and sufficiently well indoctrinated to be relied upon to carry out Soviet objectives without the actual presence of Soviet troops."

$2,500 Damage Suit Docketed In Court

A $2,500 damage suit has been filed in Allegheny County Circuit Court by Osgood Bus Company of Morgantown as a result of an accident September 14 near the new Keyser-McCoolle Bridge.

The suit filed through the firm's attorney, Earl E. Manges, is against the Turpentine and Rosin Factors, Inc., of Savannah, Ga.

It is contended a truck owned by the Georgia concern collided with an Osgood bus at an intersecting street with the approach to the new bridge.

The accident occurred through the negligence of the driver of the truck, the suit contends.

Military Vote Expected To Be Drop In Bucket

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (P)—The military vote will be little more than a drop in the presidential election bucket on Tuesday if the fighting services run anywhere near true to the form of 1948.

Whether the presence of a career military man, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, on the ballot as the Republican presidential nominee will have any bearing can't be guessed accurately.

The 1944 general election is the only one available for comparison because it is the only wartime election since that of 1864 that has been surveyed in terms of the military vote.

The soldier vote in the election which returned Abraham Lincoln to office constituted 5.8 per cent of the total popular vote cast that year.

Eighty years later, in the midst of another big war, the military vote slipped to 5.6 per cent of the total popular vote of more than 48 million.

In other words, fewer than three out of 10 eligible military personnel voters cast ballots in 1944. In that same election nearly six out of every 10 eligible civilians on the home front voted.

Officials who have studied the 1944 military vote see little likelihood that the soldier vote on Tuesday will total much more than 750,000 votes.

Vote Republican Elect These Candidates

For President
DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER
For Vice President
RICHARD M. NIXON
For United States Senate
J. GLENN BEALL
For Member Of Congress
DEWITT S. HYDE

The Election Counts

The voters tomorrow have on their hands perhaps the most momentous decision they have had to make in many years — the election of a new President and vice president of the United States plus a senator and a congressman.

For the first time since 1928 a chief executive of this country is not running to succeed himself in the Presidency.

Instead, for that high office, the voters have two principal candidates to choose from — one, who represents the continuation of the mess and corruption in Washington and the double-dealing, lackadaisical foreign policy that lost the peace after World War II and led to the war in Korea.

On the other side is a candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who represents integrity and ability, who has proved his capabilities of leadership, which America needs so much today, and who can lead America out of the quagmire of quandary and restore it to a position of respect in the free world. No Communist or fellow traveler would dare embrace Dwight Eisenhower or what he stands for.

To help Dwight Eisenhower achieve his program it certainly is not unfair to ask that the voters give him a Republican Congress, a Congress that will vote to carry out his proposals rather than one that will fight him at every turn.

That brings up the necessity of electing J. Glenn Beall to the United States Senate and DeWitt S. Hyde to the House of Representatives.

Mr. Beall has had 10 years of experience in Washington as the member of the House of Representatives from this district and now desires to be promoted to the Senate. Certainly he deserves the reward.

In his years as a legislator, Mr. Beall has proved his integrity and his ability. He has performed the utmost in service to the people of his district and especially to the people of Allegany County, his home.

Mr. Hyde, a newcomer so far as district politics is concerned, has gathered considerable experience in the field of legislation and leadership through his service in the Maryland House of Delegates and the Maryland Senate.

He comes from Montgomery County where Democrats and Republicans alike have seen fit, because of his ability and integrity, to elect him first to the lower house of the state legislature and then to promote him to the upper house. And Montgomery County, mind you, has a Democratic majority in registration of some 17,000.

In addition to the fateful questions of deciding who shall be the leader of these United States for the next four years and who shall be our representatives in Congress, the voters of Allegany County also are faced with an important local question—that of Daylight Saving Time.

The Cumberland News again urges your support of Daylight Saving Time as a progressive step that will keep us abreast of the larger metropolitan centers and provide the opportunity for a wider sharing of daylight activities during the summer months.

For a better America we ask you to vote for the Republican candidates in Tuesday's election. For a better Allegany County we ask your support of Daylight Saving Time. But, above all, go to the polls and vote tomorrow.

The Position In Korea

Korea is very much in the minds of all Americans these days. The fighting there has been increasing in intensity and scope over a period of weeks. It is pertinent to look at the military facts.

An interesting analysis seems to be the estimate that the British House of Lords heard from Defense Minister Earl Alexander of Tunis, who was in Korea as late as last June and who is naturally kept up to date as to the outlook there. His appraisal leaves no room for complacency about the UN position.

Earl Alexander said that the Communist forces in Korea are strong enough to launch a major offensive at any time. They have about 1,000,000 men ready for action, three-fourths of them Chinese, and reinforcements can be poured in from China as needed.

As things now stand, he believes UN air power can blunt and throw back Red thrusts soon after it is mounted. But he added that there are an estimated 1,200 enemy planes massed in Manchuria that cannot be overlooked.

This boils down to an assertion that enemy strength, on the ground, is sufficient to make possible a major drive. What is an unknown quantity is whether U. S. air strength, which must be relied upon to block any deep and dangerous penetration, will be able to perform that mission—because those planes in Manchuria may stand in the way.

This sounds as though the Communists need have no fear of what the UN forces may do even if they cannot be sure of driving the Eighth Army off the peninsula. Still, they would be wise—before they start another big push—to make sure that this old soldier is telling everything he knows.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

The Drug Addict

Drug addiction is a serious disturbance which proves far more difficult to overcome than alcoholism or the tobacco habit. Furthermore, it has a more profound influence upon the personality and physical well being of the individual and the user lives in fear of being discovered by a society that regards the drug habit with contempt.

In this country, the most popular compounds used by addicts are opium or any of its preparations or alkaloids; marihuana; cocaine; amphetamine; the new synthetic analgesics such as methadone; and the barbiturates and other sedatives. The incidence of cases has decreased since the passage of the Harrison narcotic act but the shocking publicity on the frequency of this condition among teen-agers is ample proof that dope peddling is very much alive. Moreover, the barbiturates are the most common agents in suicide; and chronic addiction to sleeping pills continues to flourish.

Many addicts are emotionally immature, psychoneurotic men and women who resort to this means of relieving anxiety and tension. The remainder are nonconformists, criminals, and ne'er-do-wells who are said to suffer from character defects. According to Dr. Harris Isbell, of the United States Public Health Service hospital at Lexington, the majority acquire the habit thru "deliberate" experimentation with the drug because of association with persons who are already addicted. Contrary to popular opinion, only a few were given the substances originally by physicians.

Addicts to morphine or similar drugs usually experience pleasant relaxation, with alternating periods of light sleep and wakefulness. In this state, they are content to nod and dream rather than work or make decisions. They are easily aroused and can talk coherently but prefer to drowse. Individuals of this kind try to have their cake and eat it too for they do not wish to let any one learn their secret. Undesirable side reactions such as nausea, vomiting, itching of the skin, lack of appetite, and constipation are tolerated because of the dominant urge of the more pleasant sensations.

As habituation continues, more and more of the narcotic is required to induce the desired effect. But there is a limit to the amount that can be taken for the effect and when this stage is reached the drug is continued to overcome the disagreeable manifestations associated with stopping it. Now the person is a slave to the habit; he cannot give it up without going thru physical and psychic torture.

Withdrawal symptoms appear in the morphine addict eight to 14 hours after the last dose. At first there is restlessness and inability to sleep followed shortly thereafter by perspiration, drooling, and extreme nervousness. By the end of 48 hours all these discomforts are magnified. Meanwhile the person develops muscular cramps, chills, twitching of the arms and legs as well as nausea, gagging, retching, and vomiting. Five to 10 pounds may be lost in a few hours. The peak generally is reached by the end of 72 hours and then the syndrome begins to decline. The pattern is somewhat the same with the other drugs except that symptoms may be more or less severe, start sooner, or last longer. Most addicts must remain under supervision at least four months, in a state of abstinence, before they are considered well enough to go out into the world again. But the majority fail despite this care because the original psychiatric cause has not been rectified.

RUPTURED DRUMS

G. F. writes: Is flying safe for a person with holes in both ear drums?

REPLY

Yes, because the change in pressure associated with flying will have no effect in such circumstances. There is no chance for air to become trapped within the middle ear to produce the disagreeable sensations.

EXCITEMENT

J. W. writes: Can you explain this? My blood pressure is 190 when the doctor takes it on reaching his office. But when he takes it again before I leave it is 150.

ALL AGES

Mrs. J. writes: Can a middle-aged person develop tuberculosis? I have a friend, 50, who was just told by her physician that she has contracted the disease.

Tuberculosis has no respect for age, although the majority of victims are young adults.

Everyone On Stage For The Finale

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Palace Guard Already Forming Around Adlai Stevenson; General MacArthur Didn't Think Much Of Ike's "Go To Korea" Offer

WASHINGTON—The Democrats have tried to keep it inside the family, but bickering and backbiting have broken out among Stevenson's top lieutenants.

Chief source of trouble has been the governor's administrative assistant, ex-Professor Carl McGowan, who has planted himself as a roadblock in the way of anyone wanting to see Stevenson.

Even Democratic National Chairman Steve Mitchell discovered that, in at least three cases, important messages to the governor never got past McGowan's desk. Stevenson's campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt, also had the same trouble when absent. His messages frequently were blocked by McGowan.

The two White House assistants attached to Stevenson's headquarters, Dave Bell and Clayton Fritchey, have also had trouble getting past McGowan. In fact, the situation has become so heated that Wyatt fumes at the mention of McGowan's name.

Among other things, McGowan kept the details of Stevenson's whistle-stop tour from the governor, because McGowan was opposed to Stevenson's taking that kind of trip. Even though already overruled, and though Stevenson had agreed to make a whistle-stop swing through the East, McGowan stubbornly sat on the train schedules which Mitchell sent for Stevenson's OK.

As a result, the whole train trip was almost upset.

In case Stevenson is elected, it looks as if McGowan is trying to set himself up as another Matt Connelly, self-appointed head of a palace guard to protect the President from any ideas except his own.

MacArthur And Eisenhower

General Eisenhower's "I will go to Korea" statement unquestionably won votes for the GOP, though it did just the opposite with a certain top-ranking general who has spent some time in Korea himself—namely General MacArthur.

When MacArthur heard the Eisenhower promise, he grumbled: "Why doesn't he come see me? I can tell him all about Korea without taking a trip over there."

MacArthur's reaction didn't help the efforts made by Herbert Hoover and other mutual friends of the two generals to bring them together.

Nixon's Maid

American newspapers haven't said anything about it, but Swedish papers have been playing up the story of Senator Nixon's Swedish maid who entered the United States on a diplomatic passport and is now working in his Washington house.

She is Ruth Anna Elisabeth Jonsson, who came to this country to work for the assistant military attaché of the Swedish embassy, on a stipulation that she not work for anyone save Swedish diplomats, and that she would return to Sweden after her job ended. Last summer, however, when her job did end, she went to work for Senator Nixon.

The Swedish embassy notified the State Department, belatedly, that she had gone to work for Nixon and was thereby subject to deportation. Following this, the Justice Department interviewed Miss Jonsson and sent a report to Attorney General McGranery. McGranery decided to do nothing. It was indicated at the Justice Department that he did not want to tangle with Senator Nixon by deporting the lady.

Since then, Miss Jonsson has been telling other maids working for Swedish diplomats that she makes only $70 a month, has to work from early in the morning until late, with only one day off a week. Though she would like to leave, she says that as long as she is working for a senator she feels she will not be deported.

Following publication of some of these facts in the Swedish newspapers, the Justice Department has interviewed Miss Jonsson a second time. This time she came to the Justice Department accompanied by one of Nixon's secretaries, who remained present while Miss Jonsson was being interviewed.

The Justice Department has now lifted Miss Jonsson's passport, but still has not decided what to do about deporting her. Justice Department officials indicated they did not want to make the matter a political issue, but admitted that any other alien illegally working in the United States would be deported immediately.

Politico-Go-Round

President Truman, aged 68, has shown the effects of his strenuous whistle-stopping. His speeches have slowed up a bit. Some of the old steam is gone. Intimates say that the campaign will shorten his life, but he told a group in Chicago:

"This campaign is more important than that of 1948." . . . The Ruml plan of collecting $5 each from small Democrats has flopped. So far it's raised only about $41,000 despite heavy clerical cost. . . . One of the biggest Stevenson money-raisers has been A. N. Spaniel of Dover, Del. . . . Michigan Democratic committeemen say Adlai's been talking over People's heads in his state—"We had to get Harry in to give them the down-to-earth stuff and get 'em warmed up." . . . Inside men on the Eisenhower train have been cautious about their predictions. Others on the train are more confident. . . . Truman's whistle-stops in many Ohio and Minnesota towns flopped. Poor crowds. He seemed weary and serious. His appearances in such industrial centers as Hibbing, Minn., St. Louis, Gary, and Chicago went better. . . . Truman told Dean Acheson after stumping Pennsylvania: "Pennsylvania's in the bag for Adlai."

Matter Of Fact

By STEWART ALSOP

The Ghost In The Commodore

EISENHOWER HEADQUARTERS, New York.

Gen. Eisenhower's gleamingly efficient political headquarters, in the Commodore Hotel here, are haunted. The ghost of Thomas E. Dewey's defeat in 1948 almost visibly stalks the corridors, and almost audibly rattles its chains whenever the Eisenhower managers feel tempted to express the confidence which all sorts of facts would seem to justify.

The result is a curious mood of repressed elation combined with an undercurrent of nervousness. Talking with the Eisenhower managers, one senses a conscious and deliberate effort to avoid such phrases as "in the bag," or "all over but the shouting." Yet it is perfectly obvious that such phrases would be heard on all sides, among reporters as well as Eisenhower aides, if it were not for the haunting memory of 1948.

In the first place, as all the Eisenhower aides point out in a sort of chorus, there is one big difference between this campaign and the previous dreary succession of Republican defeats. The Republican party is solidly united behind its candidate, which was notably not the case in 1948—or 1944 or 1940, for that matter.

Well heeled, tough Republican organizations in every state are now working all out for Eisenhower. The Eisenhower managers agree that the general has paid a price for this Republican unity, in the shape of concessions to the Republican right wing which have undoubtedly cost votes. To prove that the price has not been too high, they point to the public polls; to the polls taken by their own private organization in Princeton, N. J.; to reports coming from local Republican leaders in many key states; and to the geographical distribution of registration figures.

No Swing To Stevenson

All these indices, the Eisenhower managers admit, tell a story which is "too good to be true." They laugh it off, for example, when their private poll shows a heavy lead for Eisenhower in a state like Alabama. But, they say—again with that undercurrent of nervousness—that the polls "just can't be that wrong." And, they argue, there is no real evidence at all of the last-minute swing to Adlai Stevenson which they admittedly feared a few weeks ago. Eisenhower may have lost a percentage point here and there, they agree, but his lead is so great that he can easily afford it.

The Eisenhower managers claim—with every show of confidence—that the whole Middle West outside the border states, excepting perhaps Minnesota, but very probably including Stevenson's native Illinois. They claim Pennsylvania and all New England, except Rhode Island and possibly Massachusetts. They claim the whole Northwest with the exception of Washington. They assert that they have an excellent chance for added glory from the border and Southern states—notably Virginia. Finally—but here the nervousness begins to show through a bit—they claim the two biggest states, California and New York.

Both Gov. Earl Warren and Sen. William Knowland of California have flatly assured the Eisenhower managers that California will go Republican. But the nervousness in this regard showed through when a special flying trip to California by Gen. Eisenhower was briefly considered last week, and only reluctantly abandoned.

No "Ifs" For Ike

As for New York, the Eisenhower managers publicly claim an Eisenhower majority of 250,000 to 300,000. Privately they would be delighted to settle for 150,000 or so, which was the figure picked by Gov. Dewey in a personal prediction to Gen. Eisenhower. Obviously this is an uncomfortably small margin out of more than 7,000,000 New York voters. Henry Wallace captured more than half a million normally Democratic votes in 1948, and Eisenhower has no Wallace.

The Eisenhower managers agree that Eisenhower will have to win a huge majority of 700,000 votes upstate in order to overcome the Democratic lead in New York City and they admittedly felt a sinking feeling in the pit of their stomachs when Stevenson attracted huge and fanatically enthusiastic crowds in his recent appearances here.

One Eisenhower manager summed up the general view here when he said, "I just don't see how Ike can possibly lose—but of course I felt the same way in '48." There is, indeed, only one man here who does not add this final qualifying phrase. This is Dwight D. Eisenhower himself. Eisenhower does not play the universal game of juggling electoral votes. He simply assumes that he is going to win. When he talks of the future, of the terrible responsibility of the Presidency, he adds no "ifs" at all.

Meanwhile, that slyly elusive figure, the American voter, is preparing to demonstrate whether Eisenhower's calm confidence or the faint uneasiness of his aides is justified. The voter cannot register his verdict any too soon, for the tired men here in Eisenhower headquarters—or, one suspects, for any one else in the country.

Christmas Buying

By ROGER W. BABSON

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — If Christmas had come last spring or summer when the steel strike was starting, it would have been a poor Christmas for manufacturers, merchants and the rest of us. Early in 1952, the public stopped buying. Television sets, washing machines, and other appliances were filling up storehouses; while the companies making these were discharging workers.

Now May Be Time To Buy

A trip through our great Central West makes me believe the above situation is changing. Wise buyers are making their Christmas purchases now, especially for the so-called hard goods, such as washing machines, refrigerators and appliances. Even automobiles appear to be selling well in most sections. They are now being produced at an annual rate of nearly 5,000,000 because the industry is catching up after the steel strike. However, for the same reason, full-year 1952 will not show such a total.

Probably most textiles can be bought for less now than they can in December. Sheets, blankets, and other household goods will become scarcer as Christmas approaches, although there will be the customary "sales" in January. Carpets, including wool and the blended types, are moving well now even though they were a drag on the market early this year.

New Houses In Demand

New houses, the sale of which fell off badly during the summer, are again in demand due to the relaxation of credit controls. There is, however, only little demand for large houses—though they are much better built. When well located, with land available for building small new houses, many of these larger old places are better buys than small ones. This is especially true where zoning permits larger houses to be used by two families.

Rents are sure to advance during 1953. This may once again make it profitable to build houses to rent. People have money; and they first want a home. Next, a television set! These are again moving and it is better to buy one either now or wait until after Christmas. They will be higher in December than just now.

What About Prices?

Wholesale prices have been declining for some time, and now consumer prices are moving very slightly lower. The Labor Department living cost index for September shaded off to 190.8 per cent of the 1935-39 average. That was against 191.1 in August. The immediate prospect is for foods, rents, utilities, and miscellaneous consumer goods and services to show little further change. Apparel may move down slightly. House furnishings will be unchanged. All in all, little change in the consumer price index is expected for the rest of the year. Food prices, on the average, appear to be declining a bit. The general uptrend in the cost-of-living seems to have been broken. Any change between now and the end of the year will be too moderate to be felt by the average family.

The above outlook is due to full employment in all but a very few sections. Contractors are again seeking workers; the utilities are employing more people; and most people willing to work can get a job. Stenographers, typists, and other office and store help are now in great demand. The situation may be a little less optimistic after Christmas with a chance that there may be greater-than-usual seasonal unemployment. The best way for manufacturers and merchants to help prevent this—and thus save their own skins—is to spend more on advertising and selling—but keep prices down.

How To Hold Your Job

A number of persons now employed will be let go during the first few months of 1953, barring war. Defense work will not slack off, but there usually is a general reaction after Christmas. When reducing employees, manufacturers and merchants too often go on the principle of "last employed should be the first to be let go."

The above means that readers should not now change to some other job just to temporarily get more money. Stick where you are and do better work than you have ever done. Remember that Christmas—like other good things—may have an unpleasant "hang-over." Play safe and don't be blinded by tinsel and candles.

Bruce Boosters Seeking School Improvements

WESTERNPORT — A delegation from the Booster Club, recently organized to seek improvements for Bruce High School, will meet Friday afternoon with the Allegany County Board of Education, if the date meets with the Board's approval.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., a member of the House of Delegates, discussed improvements needed to relieve congested conditions at Bruce in a talk before the Booster's Club. The enrollment is now over 600 at Bruce and commercial classes are especially overcrowded.

Bruce needs six class rooms, a new auditorium, cafeteria and athletic field, Whitworth said.

The ground at the lower end of Maryland Avenue, east of Memorial Park, was suggested as the site for a new athletic field, which could be made easily accessible to the school by an underpass under the Western Maryland Railway tracks.

It was suggested that the present auditorium be converted into a cafeteria and a new addition erected on the present athletic field to house a new auditorium and class rooms.

The club said "There will be a lot of empty classrooms in the new George's Creek School in Lonaconing and there is a strong possibility that students from Bruce will be transported there. We beg you to actively support this Booster Club or you may not have any school to boost."

More than 600 signatures have been secured in the canvass of Westernport, Luke, Franklin and McCoole.

Those making the survey include Mrs. Al Pearce, Mrs. Roy Bland, Mrs. Virgil Fines, Mrs. Kermit Wildman, Mrs. Gladys Raines, Mrs. Claude Westfall, Mrs. Bernice Newton, Miss Patsy Francis, Richard Cline, Ellsworth Boal, Clarence McBe, Royland Biggs, Russell DeVere, Richard Hays, William Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Biggs, Lester Chaney, Mrs. Frances Hays, William Jones, Mrs. Edmond Ross, Mrs. Raymond Reeves, Miss Rita Callis, Miss Florence Tinsley and John Shaw.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the school November 24, at 7:30 p. m.

LONACONING — Revival services will begin today and continue through November 16 at Pentecostal Holiness Church, according to Rev. Walter Veasle, pastor.

Let me also tell you it's practically set for Sir Ralph Richardson to play Reverend Davidson opposite Rita.

Jerry hadn't been in his new job at Columbia 24 hours before he had contacted Harry Kleiner to write the script. "Miss Sadie Thompson" is Jerry's first under his new contract. He tells me he will modernize the story, giving it a 1953 angle, and will photograph some of the scenes in the South Seas.

All Fred Astaire had to do was mention to Arthur Freed that he'd like to do a western musical. Right away Arthur said "great!" and got busy getting just such a script in work.

One sequence in it that Fred's really excited about is a dance on horseback, which certainly will be something different. Bet all our cowboys will start boning up on their terpsichore when they hear this!

It will be next summer before this picture can be made, however, because Fred has to do "White Christmas" with Bing Crosby and "Bandwagon" with Ava Gardner before then.

Ida Lupino is going to be just a wife while she is in London with Howard Duff, who is making a picture there. She told me this yesterday at the baptism of their beautiful little daughter. She also said they are leaving the baby with Ida's mother because the long trip would be too hard on so young a child.

Unusual, but nice, that Collier Young, Ida's former husband, was named the Duff baby's godfather. He and Ida have remained good friends since their divorce, and are continuing to co-produce pictures.

They'll make "The Hangdog" with Robert Mitchum as soon as Ida returns from England, and still are negotiating for "The Shrike" which they want to make with Jose Ferrer in the role he created on Broadway.

Chit-Chat:

The Pier Angeli-Kirk Douglas idyll is very much on again and apparently Mama has withdrawn any objection she had. Kirk flew from London to Rome to see Pier, and a friend of mine just back from London said that if ever a girl had stars in her eyes it was the little Italian girl when she and Kirk were glimpsed at a well known restaurant in Rome.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Just before Ava Gardner took off for Africa she signed that long debated contract with MGM. Permission to take Frankie Sinatra to Africa probably did it.

Doctors told Cy Howard that the blood clot on his leg will disappear. All he needs is a rest.

Tommy Howard is feeling much better after parting with his adenoids. His mother, Dorothy Lamour, and his dad, Bill Howard, let him

Bob Hope, pounds lighter and looking like a juvenile, was at Maureen O'Sullivan Farrow's dinner with his Dolores. Never saw him look so well.

I sat next to William Goetz, who is voting for Stevenson, but whose daughter, Judy, is casting her absentee ballot. "That's America," said Eisenhower. "Needless to add, L. B. Mayer, Judy's grandfather agrees with Judy."

Mrs. Charles Boyer, who votes for the first time, listened to both sides and said that Charles had told her to vote exactly as she feels.

Listening to the political talk were Ronald and Benita Colman, Father Thomas English, Jimmy McHugh, Dolly Walker, Enoch Ravello, Joan Fontaine and Collier Young, whose future happiness was toasted.

While we were in the midst of talking politics John Farrow telephoned from Mexico to Maureen. He's there on location.

Darvas and Julia, famous dancers, open at the Mocambo November 11. They're brother and sister, and have had sensational notices in the East.

A former Ridgeley couple, Lt. and Mrs. Frank B. Robbins, and their three children have returned to the United States after spending almost two years in Europe.

Lt. Robbins, son of Mrs. F. B. Robbins, Miller Road, Ridgeley, was stationed at Westbury Close, Ruislip, England, with the U. S. Air Force for 21 months.

His wife is the former Miss Constance Welsh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Welsh, Fort Ashby, with whom they are residing at present. Lt. Robbins served in the Pacific during World War II.

While overseas, the Robbins fam-

"Wonder how many telephone calls went into that plane?"

When you see a jet plane flash across the sky, remember that about 40,000 telephone calls were needed to help build it!

That's a lot of telephone-service, any way you look at it. But it's just a drop in the bucket compared to what it takes to turn out all the weapons America needs for defense.* Today, when we need it most, it's a good thing we've got as much telephone service as we have!

But we will need even more tomorrow. That's why we must continue to build an ever stronger telephone system. This will require additional money, of course, which must come from investors. To attract this money, telephone rates must permit the company to remain financially sound.

Portrait Of Marilyn

She is, at the moment, the nation's number one sex thrill. Next to Adlai and Ike, she's the hottest topic of conversation in Hollywood. And she's a very likable — is that the word I want exactly? — girl. One thing that rather astonished me about Marilyn Monroe is that the wives — those, at least, who have met the girl — like her just as much as their husbands, though in a somewhat different way.

And she smiled. When Marilyn smiles, she smiles all over. Her lips part, her eyes narrow, her eyebrows shoot up, and the whole vastly publicized body moves around a little bit. I suppose that would be the definition of a lot of other smiles, but Marilyn does it more expertly than anyone else. Watching her I remembered what Joseph Cotten told me just after he'd finished a picture with her:

"Everything that girl does is sexy. She can't even light a cigarette without being sexy. A lot of people—the ones who haven't met Marilyn—will tell you it's all just publicity. That's the malarkey. They've tried to give the same publicity build-up to a hundred girls out here. None of them took. This girl's really got it. I thought I'd better tell Mr. Cotten's cigarette and I offered her one. She's only recently learned to smoke, having been required to do it in 'Don't Bother to Knock.' She does it as if she had been at it for years and after watching her for a while, I decided the Cotten theory was sound, very sound."

"I haven't heard anything but the kindest things about you since I've been here," I said.

"Oh, you are very nice to say so. But I know what they say, the women. I get letters from the women. 'What are you trying to do,' they say, 'put the country in a worse state than it's in.' Now it's my fault—the state the country's in. They accuse me of starting all the rapes. Rapes went on long before I came."

"This girl, I thought, is a very interesting bundle of neuroses. 'Crank letters,' I said. 'Everyone gets them. What the hell do you care what a few cranks say? You're the hottest thing in pictures. You've got the country at your feet. Why worry about a few cranks?"

But she does worry. Some of the Hollywood hatchet girls—and the place abounds in them—have given her the full treatment at parties. This has cut deep. And the critics, who have had a field day with her acting, have wounded her to the marrow. "They are so cruel, the critics. Sometimes I think they just take out their frustrations on other people."

She speaks in a low throaty murmur, the sound coming from far back in her throat. Both her inflections and the structure of her sentences are more European than American, which is odd because Marilyn has lived in Los Angeles all her life. "My wardrobe mistress says that, too. She is a Hungarian and she is my closest friend. She says I am more like a European girl because I enjoy being a woman."

She thought a moment, the lips moving a little. The face is never quite still. "I don't know where I picked it up. I was born on the wrong side of the tracks, you know, and I used to play with a lot of little Mexican boys. Perhaps there."

"When did it start, the sex appeal?" I was beginning to use the same sentence structure, the delayed object.

"I think I was about 12 when things changed—radically. The boys didn't have cars. They had bicycles. They'd come by the house and whistle or they'd honk their little horns. Some of them had paper routes. I'd always get a free paper."

Marilyn's childhood is shrouded in contradictions. She says she was moved from household to household, that she saw her parents but rarely. She has been disputed and it's hard to know what is true. But it wasn't a happy childhood.

"Ever since I can remember, I've wanted to be a movie star. I loved the movies. When I was a little girl, it seemed like the only time I was alive was when I was at the movies. The movies were much more real to me than my life."

Well, she'd got there, all right. How was it, being a star?

"Well—it's exciting. The first time I saw my name in lights, I just stopped the car and stared at it for 20 minutes. I thought this is some kind of ultimate. But, of course, you never quite get everything, do you? I want to be a great stage actress. No, honestly, I do."

But then there were the unkind critics. One critic, in particular, said all she could do was "wiggle my fanny," the unkindest cut of all.

"I know what I'm doing," she said fiercely. "I know I can act, I can play Gretchen in 'Faust' or Therese in 'Cradle Song.' I know I can." She probably can, too, and will. She's come a long way.

Somehow, I never bothered her to ask what, if anything, she wore under her dress.

Author, Writer To Address Local Dinner Club Nov. 11

Richard Joseph, who for a number of years has been the travel editor of Esquire, author, writer and bonhomie, will be the guest of honor at the next regular meeting of the Cumberland National Dinner Club.

According to Ivan Diehl, president of the Club, Joseph will speak on Tuesday, November 11, at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club and his subject will be "Paradise On A Pittance."

Even before he was out of Ohio State University, Mr. Joseph had covered forty states of the United States, France, Belgium, Switzerland, and Holland were his regular territories as the Paris representative of an American film firm.

A vacation trip taught him his way about South America, and he lived in England long enough to get married there. A three year stint doing liaison work between the French and the American Armies enabled him to add Italy, Germany and Austria to the list of European countries with which he was thoroughly familiar. His war work with the French commandos in Africa also earned him the Croix de Guerre.

Along with everything else, Mr. Joseph has found time to do a considerable amount of writing. His book "Your Trip Abroad" was widely acclaimed as the most authoritative guide book of its kind, and the most recent work, "World Wide Travel Guide", published in 1952, brings his earlier volumes up to date.

MAKE THEM ASSIST YOU
FINESSING against a queen, when able to make the play in either direction, is nearly always risky business. Even though you feel pretty confident one particular defender holds that card, you may not be sure of it. The far better procedure, if you can furnish it, is to make one of the defenders lead that suit. Then you don't care who holds the missing honor. It is certain to be trapped.

West's double was not for the purpose of increasing the score to be made through setting the contract, but to warn East not to bid 5-Hearts as a sacrifice, since he felt confident of beating it. He began the defense in orthodox style by leading his heart Q from the solid sequence. After sizing up his problems, South trumped that with the club 5, then set out upon a sound plan.

South had noted the virtual certainty of losing a trick to the club K, as well as one to the diamond A, so could not afford to drop one to the spade Q. He felt reasonably sure that West held that card, since from the lead East was marked with the heart A-K and could hardly be expected to hold anything else of importance in view of his jump from 1-Heart to 4-Hearts. But he refused to depend on that probability when he saw a certainty, so he played for the latter, eliminating hearts and diamonds from his holdings and then throwing West into the lead.

To the second trick he led the diamond K. West won and sent back the heart 10 to be ruffed. The diamond 4 was led to the J and dummy's last heart ruffed. The club A was laid down, then the diamond Q. West, with only hearts and spades besides his club K, didn't wish the lead, so tossed a heart. He put another heart on the diamond 6, ruffed by the club 4. Then the club 6 was led to the Q. West had to win. A heart return would have brought a ruff and discard, so he led the spade 9, and the Q was caught.

WM Railway Seeks To End Passenger Service In Md.

The Western Maryland Railway Co., facing an annual out-of-pocket loss of nearly a half million dollars on its passenger operation, plans to ask the Maryland Public Service Commission for permission to discontinue its passenger trains between Cumberland, Hagerstown and Baltimore.

Railroad officials, here last week, revealed that the Western Maryland passenger service has operated at an annual loss for over 30 years. Economic conditions have made the WM a freight carrying road, it was pointed out, and the extension of good roads and an enormous increase in private auto transportation (plus bus operation) have all combined to reduce passenger train travel to almost nothing.

A check of passenger traffic on the Western Maryland in Cumberland shows an average of three persons daily getting on the one eastbound train, and the same number getting off the westbound train here. Few of these traveled farther than Hagerstown. It was pointed out that the passenger traffic originating in Cumberland averages fewer people than make up the crew of the train transporting them.

No passenger train on the railroad is earning enough revenue, said one WM official, to pay crew wages and the fuel bill. On wages and fuel costs alone the annual out-of-pocket loss on WM passenger train operation is over $100,000, it is asserted. With upkeep, overhead and other cost items included, the annual loss is over $450,000.

Freight shippers object to being burdened with passenger train losses, and have made vigorous protests against the nearly half million dollar deficit being continued to serve so few people.

11 Employees Affected
When asked about the effect of passenger train discontinuance on employees and their jobs, it was shown that only 18 employees will be affected and seven of these are 65 years of age and over and eligible for retirement. Of the eleven others all have the right to "bump" those below them on the seniority roster, and would have high priority in freight service.

There is hope held out, however, by the Western Maryland top officials that elimination of the half million yearly loss on passenger service will enable the company to improve and expand its other services so that employment will be increased. Wiping out the passenger operation loss will also put the WM in a better position to borrow for plant improvement.

May Lose Mail Revenue

One of the continuing sources of revenue in passenger train operation, the transportation of mail, is likely to disappear, an official said, since the U. S. Postoffice Department recently announced a policy of transferring all mail to highway transportation where distances are less than 200 miles. Carrying mail now produces half the revenue the railroad derives from passenger train operation.

Statisticians recently figured that the cost of operating the Western Maryland passenger service between Cumberland and Baltimore for the first six months of this year was $3.05 per train mile, while the revenue amounted to only 76 cents per train mile.

In the light of these and other supporting data, the Western Maryland has indicated an early application to the Public Service Commission to discontinue all the passenger service between Cumberland and Baltimore.

Six-Day Deer Season Opens For Archers Today

Bow Arrow Sport Is Legal In Six Counties

Allegany Included, Firearms Banned, Hunting Hours 7-5

Bow and arrow hunting for deer of either sex makes its bow today in Allegany county and five other counties of Maryland.

The six-day season gets under way at 7 o'clock this morning and ends at 5 o'clock each day.

Archers may also hunt deer in Baltimore, Carroll, Harford, Dorchester and Wicomico counties.

Hunting buck deer with rifle in Maryland does not become legal until the six-day period, December 1 through 6.

Firearms Are Taboo

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, sounded a warning last night that archers must not have firearms in their possession.

Garrett county, the state's No. 1 deer county, is not included in the bow hunting sport because residents there petitioned against it after sportsmen had voiced themselves in favor of it. Thus, Allegany county is the lone county in Western Maryland where the sport has been legalized.

Those who bag deer with bow are not eligible to hunt bucks with a rifle during the season in December as the law provides that no hunter shall kill more than one deer a year.

Slay Seven In Harford

During the bow and arrow season in Harford county last year seven deer were slain and five of those were bucks. One of the hunters killed a deer with a rifle then put an arrow in the bullet hole.

He paid a fine of $200.

Three local sporting goods stores report they were unable to supply the demand for hunting bows and arrows. A medium priced hunting bow, made of hickory and lemon wood, costs about $16 and the cheaper ones run as low as $10.

Bows made of fibre glass, magnesium and aluminum sell for $28 to $35. Arrows for medium priced bows cost from $1 to $1.25. One local merchant sold out his entire stock of twenty-four dozen arrows last week.

Check Deer At Shipway's

There is one checking station for bow hunters in Allegany county and that is Shipway's Inn, 20 miles east of Cumberland on Route 40. This station also is in operation during the December deer season.

The raccoon season which came in Saturday and lasts until January 31 will not interfere with the deer season as raccoon is hunted from sunset to sunrise.

Quail, pheasant, grouse and rabbit hunting becomes legal in Allegany county November 15. The season ends on January 3. The turkey and squirrel season ended Saturday and it's illegal to hunt this species of game now.

Regional Warden Minke says his reports show that 48 wild turkeys have been killed in Allegany county. He says it is compulsory to report all turkey kills not later than today.

Conerly, Price Star As Giants Flatten Cards

New York Steals Six Passes In 28-0 Win

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—The New York Giants, with Chuck Conerly pitching two scoring passes and Eddie Price barging to two more touchdowns, stole six Chicago Cardinals' and recovered four of their fumbles to flatten the Cardinals, 28-0, today.

A Comiskey Park crowd of 27,195 watched the Cardinals take a 6-0 lead in the first quarter only to have the Giants go ahead to stay when Price streaked through the middle of the Chicago line and booted 75 yards for a touchdown. Score by quarters:

Georgia Tech Falls In Line For Bowl Bid

Stops Blue Devils, Terps, Michigan State, UCLA Score

By RIP WATSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—With the football season turning into November's home stretch, the New Year's Day bowl game teams are as undecided as the winner of Tuesday's presidential election.

You can figure on about a 50-50 chance picking the presidential winner. But the only sure things Jan. 1 are the Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference champions in the Rose Bowl, the Southwest Conference kingly in the Cotton Bowl, and Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl.

Engineers Halt Duke

Tech's terrific Engineers took a long step on the road from Atlanta to New Orleans yesterday in burying Duke, 28-7, before the eyes of Sugar Bowl representatives. Ripping off two quick touchdowns in the first period and adding another in the second for a 21-0 half-time lead.

Georgia Tech looked like lots of sugar in the bank for any bowl sponsor. Their defensive unit was as impressive as the offense, blocking two kicks which led to touchdowns and stopping Duke's attack cold.

The big win also could boost Tech's fourth-place standing in the Associated Press poll of the top ten teams, for Duke was No. 6 in the poll.

UCLA Is Impressive

UCLA, the No. 7 team, moved closer to the Rose Bowl with an equally impressive 28-7 victory over California. UCLA's No. 2 battle with fifth-ranked Southern California should determine the conference representative.

Despite a 14-7 loss to Michigan State, the nation's top-ranking team, Purdue is still favored to meet the coast challenge in the Rose Bowl. Purdue, No. 8 in the poll, got two touchdowns behind against Michigan State and could get only one back despite a furious second-half rally. Now the Boilermakers, 3-0 in the conference, play Minnesota 3-1 and Michigan 3-1 on successive Saturdays.

Michigan's perfect conference record was shattered when Illinois, one of the pre-season favorites, achieved its first Big Ten victory of the year with a 22-13 score. Minnesota stayed in the running with a 17-7 conquest of Iowa, and Wisconsin 2-1 still could win it if the others falter. The Badgers disposed of Rice, 21-7, yesterday.

Texas took the lead in the race for the Cotton Bowl spot by thumping Southern Methodist, 31-14. But the Southwest Conference race seldom is settled before the season's end, and probably won't be this year either.

Terps Scalp Boston U.

Another bowl possibility is second-ranked Maryland—if the Southern Conference should by chance give out the year-old ban against post-season games. The mighty Marylanders, who are on probation in the conference for playing the Sugar Bowl last year, rolled over Boston University, 34-7, without undue exertion. Now they're saying down south Maryland and Georgia Tech would draw pretty well in the Sugar Bowl.

Third-ranked Oklahoma, which has been averaging 42 points a game, missed a conversion attempt yesterday and thereby spoiled the average with a 41-0 trouncing of Iowa State. Next week, however, the powerful Sooners meet Notre Dame in television's game of the week, which should end their high scoring habit.

Irish Sink Navy

Notre Dame, incidentally, faces a murderous schedule. After Oklahoma, Frank Leahy's lads face Michigan State, Iowa and Southern California. Yesterday the Irish used two touchdowns, a field goal and a safety to down Navy, 17-6.

Kansas maintained its strength as No. 9 team with a 26-6 victory over Kansas State, while the tenth team, Villanova, gained a 20-20 tie with the Parris Island Marines Friday night.

That result and Duke's downfall cut the list of major unbeaten and untied to a handful—Michigan State, Maryland, Southern California, UCLA and Georgia Tech.

TV Fans See Thriller

Fans watching yesterday's nationally-televised game saw a real thriller as Ohio State rallied from a 21-7 deficit in the fourth quarter and won by 24-21 on a field goal by 128-pound Tad Weed.

South Carolina and Cornell made similar comebacks, the Gamecocks scoring three times in two minutes for a 21-14 victory over Virginia and Cornell making three in the last quarter to defeat Columbia, 21-14.

Badminton Season To Open Tonight

The winter season of the Cumberland Badminton club will start tonight at 7:30 at the Fort Hill School gymnasium.

The club will meet every Monday and Thursday evenings and new members will be welcomed and proper instruction given to beginners.

At a recent meeting the following officers were elected: Dr. Paul Castle, president; Mrs. Gordon Bowie, vice-president; Dr. William Ryan, secretary; and Walter Eyer, Jr., treasurer.

New members are invited to the Fort Hill School gymnasium on regular meeting nights.

Detroit Lions Provide Upset, Defeat Browns

Leon Hart, McGraw And Jim Doran Star In 17 To 6 Victory

DETROIT, Nov. 2 (AP)—End Leon Hart's leaping fingertip catch in the second period and his easy catch of another touchdown pass from Bobby Layne in the fourth period pushed the Detroit Lions to a 17-6 victory over the Cleveland Browns before a sellout crowd of 56,029 fans today.

Hart, six foot five inch giant from Notre Dame, was celebrating his 24th birthday.

The defeat was only the second for the Browns, leaders in the American Conference of the National Football League.

The savage defensive play of End Jim Doran and Tackle Thurman McGraw crushed the Browns' hopes of coming from behind in the second half. On successive plays Doran tossed Quarterback Otto Graham for 19-yard and 11-yard losses in the second half. Later when the Browns were on the march, Doran hit Graham's arm as he passed and the ball was deflected into the arms of Lion Lavern Torrence.

Pat Harder booted a 43-yard field goal as the Lions went ahead 10-3 at half time. Harder converted twice.

Lou "The Toe" Groza kicked 12-yard and 41-yard field goals for the Browns' only points. He missed on two other tries. Score by periods:

Los Angeles Rams returned to their high scoring ways today for the first time this year when they buried the winless Dallas Texans under a bombardment of six touchdowns for a 42-20 triumph.

Handling the Texans their sixth straight loss in National Football League play, and bringing their own record up to 3-3, the Rams decorated the scoreboard with five touchdowns for a 35-point lead at the half.

The thriller for the crowd of 30,702 was a pass interception by Herb Rich and his brilliant 97-yard touchdown dash down the sidelines. Score by periods:

Steelers Win Over Redskins In 24-23 Tilt

Washington's Late Rally Falls Short

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Washington Redskins went into the last period trailing the Pittsburgh Steelers, 24-7, today, but put on such a furious rally they came within a point of tying the score. The Steelers grimly hung on to win, 24-23.

For three periods, the Redskins rarely could do anything right—and Pittsburgh took advantage of every error.

The biggest advantage was supplied by Ray Mathews, Pittsburgh's punt return specialist, who returned a kick 70 yards for a touchdown.

The Redskins had all the best of the statistics, picking up 389 yards running and passing to the Steelers' 175.

But the statistics tell nothing of the Steelers' first touchdown, in which Pittsburgh turned a Redskins field goal attempt into seven points.

George Bukar tried a kick from the 45 and booted it directly into the incoming Steeler line. The ball bounced crazily back toward the Redskins goal. Thirty-five yards out a Pittsburgh guard, Dale Dodrill, grabbed it on the bounce and ran for the touchdown.

These two touchdowns, plus a 22-yard field goal by Gary Kerkorian, gave the Steelers a 17-7 lead at the half.

They boosted that to 24-7 by marching back with the kickoff that opened the second half. Sixty-four yards they went on 11 plays until Franny Rogel punted across from the one.

That was all for Pittsburgh, except a lot of worry as Washington came to life.

Le Baron Stands Out

Eddie Le Baron was the big gun. He had scored the first Washington touchdown on a quarterback sneak, in the first period, and he passed for the two touchdowns in the rip-snorting finish.

A safety started the Redskins rally. Back to pass, Pittsburgh's Jim Finks was knocked out of the end zone by Redskins End Jerry Hennies.

Then Le Baron got to work. One pass went for 40 yards to Hugh Taylor for a touchdown.

Two minutes later another pass to Taylor gained 45 yards and put the ball on the Steeler 13. Le Baron then passed to Charley Justice for the touchdown. Score by periods:

Georgia Tech Tops INS Poll

Georgia Tech remains firm atop the first ten in the International News Service weekly nation-wide survey of college football teams.

The Rambling Wreckers kept their first place ranking by solidly taking care of previously unbeaten Duke, 28-7, Saturday.

Here's the way the teams in the INS first ten stand this week:

1—Georgia Tech; 2—Maryland; 3—Michigan State; 4—Oklahoma; 5—UCLA; 6—Southern California; 7—Duke; 8—Tennessee; 9—Villanova; 10—Kansas.

Georgia Tech, almost a sure bet to go to either the Orange or Sugar bowls, now has gone 22 games without a loss. The Engineers' next foe—this Saturday—will be the improving Cadets of West Point.

Maryland, after a 34-to-7 breeze over Boston U., has the week off while Michigan State, 14-to-7 winner over rough Purdue, goes next against weak Indiana.

The Cumberland Woodmen of the World won two out of three games from the Golden Nugget of Frostburg here Friday night and went into a five-way tie for the runner-up spot in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

With a record of 9 wins, 6 losses W. O. W. is now deadlocked with Frostburg Legion, Hann's Tavern, Fisher & Robinette and the Alhambra Club.

Tom Gibson, D. Gutheridge, Bill Gibson and R. McClellan led the Woodmen scoring with 18 points each. J. Robeson headed Golden Nugget with the same total.

TurFin Campfire

By JACK SORDS

This is the first in a new series on the outdoors drawn by Jack Sords, nationally-known sports cartoonist.

Farmers, With Their Critical pin down one of their national spokesmen who have their hands on the pulse of the rural world.

One such spokesman, Herschel Newsom, master of the National Grange, is doing no predicting or opinion sampling. But, making some cross-country tours and "whistle stops" of his own for the sake of closer integration of the grange, he has picked up a few "pointers."

Newsom said the main thing in the farmer's mind is a more detailed elaboration of just what the parties are proposing for an agriculture program.

The one-time Indiana farmer, of course, has an idea of the prevailing political sentiment among the nation's farmers but concedes that it is still hard to tell if the GOP's General Eisenhower or the Democrats' Adlai Stevenson will get the vital farm vote.

Newsom said he has talked to both political candidates and plans to have more conferences with them or their associates. The principal bone of contention, Newsom said, is the failure of the candidates to make a clearer stand on an agriculture program.

The National Grange master said his organization does not intend officially to endorse either candidate but will urge both nominees to back a plan to study and "remedy" the price support program.

The grange, as an organization, has for some time backed a plan to set up a federal farm commission to go over the whole agriculture program and make recommendations for putting the farmer "on his own two feet" without the aid of price supports which originally were set up as emergency measures.

Newsom said it is the grange's contention that the U. S. "has never corrected the basic causes of agriculture's failure" in 1921.

He said the grange, representing the largest fire in that district, burning over 500 acres on Goshen Ridge which is part of North Fork Mountain in Pendleton County, was checked Saturday afternoon and was being patrolled yesterday.

About 70 men are mopping up in that area. McClung said another fire began near Harpers Ferry Saturday night but was reported quickly checked.

Smoke palls from fires in the Tri-State District continued to spread over the area. A heavy haze drifted in communities and in some sections grounded airplanes.

E. B. Olson, assistant district forester at Parsons, W. Va., last night reported all fires in Tucker County were checked. He said investigations are still continuing in an effort to locate arsonists blamed for the fires.

Authorities at the Monongahela National Forest Supervisor's Office in Elkins, reported crewmen are still patrolling the roads and major streams in the Roaring Plains section. Investigation is being conducted in the 13 fires that destroyed 3,000 acres of virgin timberlands, soil and wildlife.

Fighters Commended Supervisor E. M. Oliver has issued a statement of appreciation and warm praise to those offering the tremendous assistance needed in checking the largest fire the section has had in 20 years.

Timekeepers listed names of 800 workers who were drawn from Elkins, Morgantown, Franklin, Rutherford, Petersburg, Davis, Parsons and numerous other communities. Oliver recounted many stories of the fire that had flames reaching 80 to 100 feet as the blaze crowned in the spruce forest on the top of the Allegheny.

The spectacular fire attracted motion picture cameramen, Oliver said, and went on to name the hundreds of services offered by telephone companies, radio stations, college students, ministers, business firms, crew leaders and many others.

"Only the splendid cooperation of many people kept the fire from becoming much larger," declared Oliver. "We never want another fire like this, but if it should come, I am confident the local people will come through again to save our soil, water, forest and wildlife."

The current weather has made the Tri-State District under dry and worried foresters are looking to the sky for rain. Higher humidity yesterday brought the slight hope of possible showers, but the Weather Bureau only predicts some cloudiness and mild for today. The Bureau did forecast possible scattered showers today in Western Pennsylvania.

WASHINGTON — The nation's farmers—either rightly or wrongly credited with pulling one of the surprise rabbits out of the political hat that elected President Truman in 1948 — are still the campaign question marks.

The question of which way farm-dom will go this time hinges on the parties' farm platforms that in the rural residents want explained more in detail.

About the only way to find out what the farmer is thinking is to pin down one of their national spokesmen who have their hands on the pulse of the rural world.

One such spokesman, Herschel Newsom, master of the National Grange, is doing no predicting or opinion sampling. But, making some cross-country tours and "whistle stops" of his own for the sake of closer integration of the grange, he has picked up a few "pointers."

Newsom said the main thing in the farmer's mind is a more detailed elaboration of just what the parties are proposing for an agriculture program.

Additional Racing Days Opposed By Commission

Miss Long To Attend National 4-H Meeting

Nancy Long of this city is among the Maryland winners of trips to the 1952 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

The trips to National Congress held this year on November 30-December 5, are awarded to 4-H girls and boys for outstanding achievements in leadership and agricultural and home economics projects. Miss Long's field of achievement is Dress Review.

In a letter to the governor yesterday, the commission opposed additional racing days, appointment of a $15,000 a year racing chairman and other recommendations of the committee.

The legislative council group also had criticized severely the racing commission for not forcing operators of Pimlico Race Track to improve their physical plant.

weight from Akron, Ohio, was knocked out in two rounds by Buster Gordon, of Conemaugh, who made his pro debut, at the Roseland Gardens at Johnstown, Pa.

Gordon boxed "Buck" Shober here several years ago and "Skeets" Starkey knocked out Williams twice in 1950, turning the trick in three rounds here and in two rounds at McKeesport, Pa., eight months later.

Norvel Lee, Olympic heavyweight boxing champion from Washington, is the choice of the District of Columbia AAU for the 1953 James E. Sullivan Award.

Lee, who has boxed in Cumberland three times, won the Val Barker Award as the outstanding amateur boxer in the world for his fine showing at Helsinki, Finland.

The Sullivan Award winner will be announced in January. A boxer never has won it.

some 900,000 farmers in the nation, believes that agriculture "should be running on its own by now" without price support programs as they are today.

The one major factor in this, Newsom said, "is that America's trade policies, tariffs, immigration restrictions and other programs, are designed to protect industrial investors and laborers from foreign competition and have operated at the farmer's expense."

Backing up this charge, Newsom pointed out that raw products of agriculture come into the U. S. duty-free but once any processing occurs, it invites a tariff or protective mechanism.

The whole idea, Newsom said, is that the American farmer wants an "equal parity" and cannot have it if the nation's agriculture program is operated exclusively on a world price level.

He said, "Farmers must be protected the same as watch-makers and the like."

Newsom said he has been "much encouraged" with both candidates' reception of "help and suggestions" from farmer organizations.

And, too, he said that although he has been "encouraged by what both candidates have said" along the agriculture line, they should perhaps expand their plans to the public.

Newsom said both candidates "recognize that agriculture is suffering without increasing prices."

He concluded that although price supports "are not the answer" to agriculture's problems, they must not be discarded until a new "remedy" is worked out—preferably by a federal farm commission.

More than 20,000 conventions of all kinds are held in the United States every year.

District Timberland Fires Under Control

Few New Blazes Reported, Arsonists Blamed As Investigations Continue

Fighters of the current outbreak of forest fires in the Tri-State district reported all blazes under control last night, but were patrolling burning areas and looking out for another enemy — the arsonist.

In almost every fire area in nearby woodlands, authorities are conducting investigations and finding evidence that fires were set deliberately.

Near Cumberland, North Branch Fire Company quenched a blaze which burned over two acres of brush near the city dump yesterday. Firemen said they got the blaze east of the dump under control in time to halt its spread into timberland on Irons Mountain.

The hundreds of smaller brush and forest fires in the area have caused a heavy schedule for volunteer firemen, most of whom fight fires after a full working day.

One volunteer company reported it has answered seven calls during the past week and that many of its members were badly in need of a full night's rest.

Wind Calm, Humidity Up
One small fire was reported in Allegany County yesterday and firemen rushing to the scene on Greenridge Mountain held the blaze to 1/20 of an acre. District Forester William H. Johnson said lack of wind and increases in humidity yesterday kept outbreaks at a minimum.

A large fire on the east side of Siding Hill Mountain about 30 miles east of Cumberland was also being patrolled today and reported under control.

Johnson, after taking an aerial photograph of the area, estimated about 160 acres have been burned in the fire that broke out early Saturday morning. He said the seven individual fires in that area are believed to have been set by arsonists.

Late Saturday night, another blaze broke out in the general vicinity of the huge fire, but crewmen had it out in short time with hardly any damage. Johnson reported that fire is also believed to be of incendiary origin.

Before brought under control, the Siding Hill Mountain fire threatened the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club, often called a millionaires' hunting reserve. Fire fighters worked desperately to keep the flames from spreading to the club's turkey hatchery, which is used to raise the birds turned loose in the woods to provide game for hunters.

Johnson said one hunter, Ellis Rhodes of Williamsport, drove from his home to Siding Hill Creek, which runs at the western base of the mountain, and when he saw the flames drove back about seven miles to Hancock to report the fire.

While there he purchased a rake of his own funds and came back to fight the blaze all day. Johnson said his action was truly exemplary.

The first report of the fire came from Frank Trail, who lives about three miles back on Siding Hill Mountain. He hiked to the nearest residence three miles away to awaken a family which drove him to a telephone along the highway. The fire was reported about 5 a. m. Saturday.

At the height of the blaze, District Forester Russell Dyer, Hancock, had rounded up 300 volunteers after sending out helpers to recruit more. Meanwhile, the Dillon Orchard Company which has orchards scattered on the mountain, had alerted its employees to be ready for action should the fire sweep close to fruit trees.

Johnson said one volunteer fire fighter found a freshly butchered deer inside the fence of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club. Authorities believe a poacher was taking advantage of the forest fire to obtain some venison illegally.

In nearby West Virginia, foresters reported all fires were under control last night barring a rise in wind velocity which might fan the flames into action again.

Cresaptown Students Plan Contest To Get Out The Vote

CRESAPTOWN — The Social Studies department of Cresaptown Junior High School will hold a contest to see which home room has the highest percentage of parents voting.

In a letter to parents, the department explained it is interested in community and national welfare and is anxious to have all eligible voters participate in tomorrow's election.

Parents were reminded that voting is not only a duty but a privilege. In letters sent to all parents, the students offered to help in any problem which might prevent a parent from voting tomorrow.

Weather

Yesterday was another typical fall day. The area was plagued by smoke from the area forest fires. Little promise of relief is in sight according to the weatherman as far as rain is concerned. Shrine Country Clubhouse To Be Enlarged

Work On Addition Starts This Week

A sizeable expansion program to the Ali Ghan Country Club, Baltimore Pike, is scheduled to get underway this week.

The board of governors recently approved an expenditure of around $15,000 for enlargement of kitchen facilities, additional dining room area and a cloak room. Several thousand dollars was spent recently to double the size of the parking lot and pave the entire area with gravel.

A spokesman for the club said last night a contract has been let to Russell G. Robeson, contractor of Potomac Park, for the construction of the new addition.

The architectural design of the interior as well as the exterior of the club house will be followed throughout the 21 by 80 foot addition.

The addition is to be added along the rear portion of the building with the east exterior wall of matching stone facing of which the sides and front of the club are built. The rear wall will be matching asbestos shingle which is used on the rear wall of the present structure. Inside, hardwood floors, painted walls and matching woodwork will be used.

The addition to the kitchen, which will provide needed space for more modern kitchen equipment and needed work space, will measure about 21 by 31 feet. Enlargement will be made to a couple of small dining rooms so dining facilities will be so flexible, with use of folding walls, that two large dining rooms will be added, or five small ones as needed.

■ Cloak room, with modern access windows, racks, etc., are also included in the expansion program.

The club was recently decorated throughout and volume of patronage has grown steadily in recent years, until the kitchen and dining facilities are taxed to the limit, spokesmen said.

The expansion will also make available here more space for conventions, large and small banquet dinner groups and other area activity.

Franklin Street Survey Is Asked

A survey of Franklin Street, between Centre and Mechanic Streets, has been recommended by the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

The engineering survey was asked after Police Commissioner John J. Long advised traffic on that block pointed to the advisability of widening the street.

The commissioner said a traffic survey showed about 700 cars and 200 trucks used the street during an eight hour period.

Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan, who was present at the meeting of the commission, pointed out the city would have to acquire property to widen the street.

Commissioner Long said he had recommended that the survey be made to show the feasibility of widening the street after conferring with Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner.

Judge Denies Habeas Corpus

Pleas for writs of habeas corpus from two teenagers now confined in the Maryland Reformatory for Males were denied Friday in Allegany County Circuit Court by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

One of the pleas came from William David Taylor, 19-year-old Westernport boy. Convicted of arson, attempted arson and malicious destruction of property, he was sent to a term not to exceed 10 years in the Reformatory. He argued in his written plea to Judge Harris that he was a victim of double jeopardy.

The other plea came from William Norman Crowe, 17-year-old Bowman's Addition youth, who was given a term not to exceed four years in the Reformatory for grand larceny of a station wagon. In his written plea, Crowe argued that Associate Judge George Henderson, who sentenced him July 7, was prejudiced because his past record was bad.

The three issues of 1938 and 1939 were used as the city's share for street work, curbing and other projects done by the WPA.

Mrs. Roeder said she asked the city engineer, early in October to begin his survey, so complete information can be made available for projecting street work and financing the badly needed undertaking.

She said, so far as her department is concerned, she plans to keep the public informed of this program so they can express their views on the question.

MAY DECIDE CONTEST — The war ballots William A. Wilson, chairman of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, is holding, plus other absentee ballots cast by members of the Armed Forces from Allegany County, may be a deciding factor in tomorrow's election if the results are close. The 42 ballots shown were cast here by servicemen while home on leave. Some 500 more ballots were mailed to servicemen and officials believe a large percentage of the ballots will be cast. Election officials will go to Annapolis tomorrow to secure absentee ballots which were mailed to the Secretary of State.

One Man's Answer

By HENRY E. JOSTEN

Why vote?
Why bother?
Why put yourself out to make the trip to the polls when "So-and-so is bound to win anyway"—or to lose—and your one vote "won't make any difference anyway?"

Listen, and I will tell you why I will cast my ballot on Nov. 4, if I have to crawl to the polling place on my hands and knees.

I will vote because I have seen with my own eyes what happens to a people—and to their country—when the people lose interest, when they "don't care," when they sit back and "let George do it."

I will vote because I was in Germany early in 1933 when the German peoples "George"—Adolf Hitler—came into power and gained in strength with each passing day, because the people either laughed at this mustached paper hanger they called by his family name of Schicklgruber, or because they simply "didn't care"—until it was too late.

I will vote because I was there that fall of 1933 when the German people, by then already thoroughly under the heel of Adolf Hitler's boot, had their chance to vote. Vote? That was a laugh, but the people were no longer in a laughing mood. Translated into English, the question on their ballot read simply: "Do you approve of the work Adolf Hitler has done—Yes? No?" That was the choice the people had. There was no opposition party, no opposition candidate.

I will vote because I still remember clearly the fear-spreading tales that were circulated by Hitler's legions weeks in advance of the "election"—tales of false bottoms in the ballot boxes, of brown-shirted Storm Troopers checking each ballot as deposited, and of banishment to a life worse than death in a Nazi concentration camp for the men and women who dared to vote "No."

I will vote because even now, 19 years later, when I put my hands tightly over my ears, close my eyes, and think back to that fall of 1933, I can still hear a knocking sound—the knocking of a Storm Trooper who one day came to the door of the family with which we were staying to warn them that they had better not forget to vote, lest their names find their way onto "the black list."

I will vote because, although I was then but 10 years old, I shall not forget, if I live to be 10 times 10 years, I will remember—and I will vote. How about you?

Suspect Held In Wave Of Forest Fires

A man, suspected of deliberately setting a number of forest fires in the district, was picked up late last night by West Virginia State Police at Thomas.

He was taken into custody for questioning shortly after an alert was broadcast for a man driving a pickup truck having side racks. Apprehended just outside of Thomas, police began questioning him last night.

With the current outbreaks in woodland fires in the district, police in two states and several counties are investigating the possibility that many of them were of incendiary origin.

Fire fighters and watchers have reported seeing persons in the vicinity of fires about the time the blazes occurred. Crewmen in at least two cases said they saw two men setting fires ahead of them as fast as they could be extinguished.

In one section, the remains of railroad signal flares, believed being used to start fires, were discovered.

In other parts of the area, foresters are assuming that hunters are being careless with matches and campfires, and also that other persons have been using matches to set fire to leaves and then scattering them to spread the flames.

Verner Will Address Cumberland Lions

Guest speaker at the Cumberland Lion's Club luncheon meeting on Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA will be Arthur A. Verner, of the Export Department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. His subject will be, "Problems of the American Exporter."

The monthly meeting of the Board will be held Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the YMCA. All officers and committee chairmen are asked to be present as well as the members.

City Firemen Extinguish Two Afternoon Blazes

South End firemen yesterday afternoon checked a grass fire at a vacant lot on East Second Street. The alarm was answered at 2:38 p. m. with little damage reported.

A truck caught fire in front of 800 Frederick Street during the afternoon and Eastside checked the call at 5:41 p. m. Grease and oil around the transmission was reported to have ignited. No damage was caused, firemen said.

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren by the pastor, Rev. Allen D. Pugh. The sermon digests are being prepared through the co-operation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

I have said this to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world you have tribulations: but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world. John 16:33

Can God Overcome Sin Today?

By REV. ALLEN D. PUGH

A few months ago I was visiting a home, and was amazed to hear the doubt that arose from them concerning the power of God in our world today. It seemed that sin in a dominant power persuaded those minds to ask this question: "If God is all powerful, why doesn't He put an end to this mania sin of war?" This family conversed on confessing that innumerable prayers had been lifted to God in order to divert war and cause peace to reign upon our land, but seemingly those prayers had drifted into abyss, almost leaving their faith staggered in God.

It is possible for this question to arise again, but we hope and pray for it to be eliminated from the minds of our Christians. Some say that a third world war is commencing in Korea, and the powers that are participating will climax its more deadly effect; if this materializes, what then happens to our faith in the almighty God? Paul teaches that God is both good and powerful, but in our modern prognostic anticipation, God is either of one or the other. If He is all powerful He would force wars to end; if He is all good He would prevent the need of war to come. So, when wars do come, God is not able to prevent it or He is not willing to remove the cause (a modern interpretation).

I Cor. 1:24b. "Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God." Let us think of defining power in an enduring method. Power is the ability of being able to achieve what one purposes to do. And God's purpose is achieved through mankind who has freedom of will. Should God cause an ending to man's determinations in will, and remove man's freedom, the cause; then, man would be a puppet without a will intellect.

I feel Dr. Leslie Weatherford vividly illustrates how a situation may be overcome, and one that is rather closely related to God's method of operation. This man that Dr. Weatherford discusses had a wife that was not very strong, however, she always imagined her condition worse than it was and complained accordingly. Her husband was a very strong man physically and always gave in to her expressed desires. He would carry her from room to room, and out into the garden, and each day she became worse and soon she had to be carried everywhere. One day a competent person advised the husband that his complaining wife was quite able to walk by her own strength, and he made her do it. He stood back and watched her stumble and fall; yet, he had the power to catch her, but his purpose was to let her fall and receive bruises in order that she might learn to walk by her own strength.

The stumbling and falling of mankind today is not God's purpose or wish, but He, our Father, has power to stand back and permit our self inflections to become reality, in order that we may overcome, through our will, the evil forces of our world. This is an indication of His power and not an indication of weakness. God is not the author of survival of the fittest, nor is His approval on the process of elimination. But rather He, through the revelation of Jesus Christ, becomes the author of love and life everlasting. He has given man complete dominion over himself, the freedom of will, while in the flesh. So, the plan of God is only achieved through the process of man's growth in goodness, and therefore, the powers of evil world can be overcome by our almighty God, through man's acknowledgements and achievements of righteousness.

God is indeed all power in His universe, but to our minds He is only as powerful as we will permit Him to be; God is no bigger to the individual, than that individual sees Him in his own life. So then if we see Jesus Christ as the power of God and the wisdom of God, then we see the power and the solution that will bring wars to an end, and create contentment in the soul of man.

Be a good follower, for I have overcome the world.

Final Official Figures Issued On Registration

County And City Fall In GOP Column; Democrats Lead In Only 27 Precincts

Complete and revised registration figures prepared by the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors show that Republicans hold a majority in 63 of the 90 polling places in the county.

These figures show there are 41,967 registered voters in the county, 23,572 of them Republicans, 18,155 Democrats and 240 Independents.

40 Precincts

Cumberland, which now has 40 precincts, has 20 of them with a Republican majority and a like number with more Democrats. However, when tabulated the GOP holds the edge in this city, with 10,251 to 9,870 Democrats, a difference of 381.

Only two communities in the county still have a Democratic majority. They are Westernport and Luke. In Westernport, four of the five precincts lean Democratic and yet the Demos have only a margin of eight voters, 1,127 to 1,119 Republicans. In Luke's single precinct the Democrats have 283 to 193 Republicans.

Outside of Cumberland, Westernport and Luke, the only community with any predominantly Democratic precincts is Mt. Savage. Two of the three Mt. Savage precincts have more Democrats than Republicans but the GOP precinct overcomes that margin. In the three Mt. Savage precincts there are 693 Republicans and 682 Democrats.

Other precincts with Republican leanings include all nine in Frostburg, all four in Lonaconing and in LaVale, two each in Bowling Green, Cresaptown, Barton, and Eckhart; one each in Little Orleans, Oldtown, Flintstone, North Branch, Vale Summit, Woodland, Borden Shaft, Ellerslie, Corriganville, Gross, Nikep, Gilmore, Zihlman, McCoole and Kifer.

Eight of the strongly Republican precincts lean in that direction by an overwhelming margin of over three-to-one. Included are District 1, Little Orleans, 167 Republicans and 49 Democrats; District 9, K-Z, Barton, 331 Republicans and 66 Democrats; District 10-1, Lonaconing, 449 Republicans and 103 Democrats; District 10-2, Lonaconing, 413 Republicans and 79 Democrats; District 12, A-J, Frostburg, 214 Republicans and 75 Democrats; District 15-1, Lonaconing, 441 Republicans and 129 Democrats; District 19, Borden Shaft, 352 Republicans and 61 Democrats; and District 26-2, Frostburg, 332 Republicans and 163 Democrats.

Strongly Democratic

Although their margins are not nearly as predominant as in the rapidly Republican precincts, there are five precincts with very decided Democratic leanings. These are District 5-3, voting at 506 North Mechanic Street, 411 Democrats and 265 Republicans; District 6-1, Knights of Malta Hall, 67 Prospect Square, 324 Democrats and 263 Republicans; District 6-3, West Side Fire Station, 419 Democrats and 300 Republicans; District 8-4, Luke, 283 Borden Shaft, 352 Republicans and District 14-1, 119 North Centre Street, 389 Democrats and 255 Republicans.

Now that precincts with more than 1,000 registered voters have been divided, the polling place with the largest number of registrants is District 6-4, voting at West Side School, where there are 732 registered voters. Among them are 391 Republicans, 332 Democrats and nine independents. On the other hand is District 33 at Kifer, where there are only 82 registered voters, 55 Republicans and 27 Democrats.

Voter's Turn To Talk Will Come Tuesday

Polls Will Be Open From 7 A.M. To 7 P.M.

Politicians have bombarded Maryland with words for the past several months from Western Maryland to the Eastern Shore, but tomorrow it's the voters' turn to talk.

Candidates generally are standing by to await the verdict of the Free State of Maryland.

At issue are the state's nine electoral votes in the presidential race, seven congressional seats and one position in the U. S. Senate. A heavy vote is predicted.

Heading the ballot will be the naming of electors for president and vice president of the United States. The choices are Eisenhower and Nixon, Republican; Hallinan and Bass, Progressive, and Stevenson and Sparkman, Democratic.

DST On Ballot

For United States Senator, voters may choose between J. Glenn Beall, Republican, of Allegany County, and George P. Mahoney, Democrat, of Baltimore County.

In the Congressional contest, the choice is between DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican, and Mrs. Stella B. Werner, Democrat, both of Montgomery County.

Two constitutional amendments and two referendums are included on the ballot.

The first would open the way for further expansion of Baltimore's harbor facilities, even when the sites are outside the city limits.

The other amendment would authorize a program budget in Maryland, showing what the state plans to spend for each activity.

The last two choices on the ballot will be referendums affecting only Allegany County.

If approved, they will provide for jury service for women in Allegany County, and for Daylight Saving Time throughout Allegany County.

To Set Up Polls
The Board of Election Supervisors announced that all election equipment will be distributed today throughout the county.

William A. Wilson, chairman, urged election judges to make a careful check of the equipment to make sure that all is in readiness for the election.

The election office at the Allegany County Court House will be open tonight from 6 to 9 p. m. so officials may pick up any needed supplies or get answers to any questions they may have.

Officials said it is important that every polling place is in full readiness for the election.

To Get Ballots
Marshall Wolford, Democrat, and Neil Nichols, Republican, substitute supervisors for the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, will go to Annapolis tomorrow to bring back ballots cast by servicemen and women from Allegany County.

These ballots have been sent by the service personnel to the office of Secretary of State in Annapolis. They will be counted Thursday, the day for the official canvass of the election.

Meanwhile, Wilson reminded county residents that no one other than service personnel can vote by absent ballots.

He also urged all voters to go to the polls early Tuesday. They will be open from 7 a. m. until 7 p. m. Anyone in line waiting to get into a polling place at 7 p. m. will be permitted to vote but no one else will be allowed to join the line after 7 p. m.

Also to be added to the votes cast here tomorrow are some 42 ballots cast by servicemen home on leave.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall will spend today and tomorrow in his native Allegany County — after one of the most strenuous campaigns in the history of the Free State.

Predictions on the outcome of the presidential contest in Maryland dropped off as the contest neared.

State Democratic headquarters predicted Stevenson will win in Maryland by 50,000 votes. A Republican statement said the state would go Republican. The most professional observers would say was that the election would be close.

East Side PTA Plans Program, Bake Sale

East Side PTA will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the school. The scheduled meeting was advanced one day because tomorrow is Election Day.

A bake sale will be held at the meeting under the sponsorship of the home room mothers. Refreshments will be served by the fifth grade mothers.
